

What do your drivers really think?

To trucking companies dealing with the driver shortage, knowledge is power. The more we know about why professional drivers are disengaging and leaving, the better we can respond and take action.

Through surveying drivers, People Element has learned why drivers leave their jobs and why they stay with them. Here are some of the most important statistics from our extensive database.

EXPECTATIONS

86%

of exiting drivers felt the job matched their expectations

REHIRE POTENTIAL

43% of exiting drivers said they are likely to return to the organization

RELATIONSHIP

I have a favorable relationship with my manager.

88% of current drivers 75% of exiting drivers

TRUST

I feel I can trust my manager.

73% of current 59% of exiting drivers

FEEDBACK

My manager gives me sufficient feedback.

68% of current drivers 58% of exiting drivers

ADVOCACY

I would recommend the organization as a good place to work.

75% of current drivers 44% of exiting drivers

TOP FOUR ITEMS THAT IMPACT ENGAGEMENT

- My manager understands the problems employees face.
- My suggestions for changes are given consideration.
- Leadership follows through on commitments.
- I am satisfied with the opportunities available to make more money (bonuses, raises, etc.).